Some time back the government consulted with Anangu about changing the Anangu Pitjantjatjara Yankunytjatjara Executive Board Election process.

Two individual words and two issues are presented for you to note ... Voting election which is all about choosing, and electorate which is all about putting someone in your electorate, a man and a woman.

Previously, communities voted a certain way but since then the government has now organised elections and voting around your own electorates, so if you live in a smaller community you should go to a bigger one to participate in the election and to vote in your electorate.

New electorates

Now there are seven electorates for you all to vote in.

- Pipalyatjara and Kalka
- Kanypi, Nyapari, Angatja and Watarru
- Amata and Tjurma
- Kaltjiti, Irintata and Watinuma
- Pukatja, Yunyarinyi, Anilalya and Turkey Bore
- Mimili
- Iwantja, Amuruna, Railway Bore, Witjintitja and Wallatinna.

Electing a man and a woman.

You will elect a man and a woman for your electorate.

Who can nominate?

Nominating to stand in your own electorate, (you must)

- be Anangu, and
- have your name on the electoral roll and be a resident in your electorate, and
- be a person of good character; the police must clear your background history.

How do you put your name on the electoral roll?

You should fill in an enrolment form before Friday 10 February 2017.

You will be given information later on putting your name on the electoral roll.

How will you choose?

If maybe two or three men, or perhaps two women nominate in your electorate, then you will vote for one man and one woman on Wednesday 5 April 2017 from 9:30 (CST) in the morning to 3:00 (CST) in the afternoon.
